To be grateful is to recognize the Love of God in everything He has given us – and He has given us everything. Every breath we draw is a gift of His love, every moment of existence is a grace, for it brings with it immense graces from Him. Gratitude therefore takes nothing for granted, is never unresponsive, is constantly awakening to new wonder and to praise of the goodness of God. For the grateful person knows that God is good, not by hearsay but by experience. And that is what makes all the difference.”

— Thomas Merton
My dear Sisters and Brothers,

May the ways we choose to live our life show our gratitude to God for all we love and who we are and are becoming.

It is our ingratitude that blinds us.
Our failure to see what we have on the way to getting more
Our disregard for what we step over on the way to somewhere else
Our lack of attention to the person by our side on the way to someone else
Our dismissal of the good that we do on the way to something greater.
All that we take for granted falls through our hands and disappears from sight.
And we too fall away from ourselves and from You.
We walk by ourselves by the wayside and do not recognize You on the way to something better.

Today I thank you, Lord, for the gift of faith: that strength, power and source within showing me the way, guiding me in the dark, making sure my faltering step, giving light for finding truth and hope for living gracefully through trials and troubled times…

Today I thank you, Lord, for the gift of your Church: that wounded, rag-tag, joyful company of saints and sinners whose faith is my strength, binding us all together, brothers and sisters in you and in your love…

Today I thank you, Lord, for all the people around me and those behind me and before me: the ones who’ve helped to make me the person I’ve become; those who’ve loved me in ways too many to know or to imagine; those who’ve loved me when I’ve failed to love them in return; those who’ve pardoned and forgiven me with mercy and with grace; those who’ve shared their joy with me, who fill my heart with peace and who help me trust and know with hope that you are ever by my side…And today I thank you, Lord, for all the people I have yet to meet but will…

Today I thank you, Lord, for the mystery of your presence: in everyone I know and meet; in the simplest and most ordinary moments of each day; and in the stillness, in the quiet of the time I spend with you in prayer…Today I praise and thank you, Lord, for you are my God from whom all blessings flow…

Amen.

My dear Sisters and Brothers,

May the ways we choose to live our life show our gratitude to God for all we love and who we are and are becoming.

Es nuestra ingratitud la que nos ciega.
Nuestra falta de ver lo que tenemos
En camino a conseguir más
Nuestro desprecio por lo que damos paso
En el camino a otro lugar
Nuestra falta de atención a la persona
A nuestro lado
En el camino a otra persona
Nuestro despido del bien que hacemos
En el camino a algo mayor.
Todo las cosas que damos por hecho
Cae a través de nuestras manos
Y desaparece de la vista.
Y nosotros también nos separamos
De nosotros mismos y de Ti.
Caminamos por nosotros mismos
Por el camino
Y no te reconocemos
En el camino a algo mejor.

Hoy te doy gracias, Señor, por el don de la fe: esa fuerza, poder y fuente dentro de mostrarme el camino, guiándome en la oscuridad, asegurándome de mi paso vacilante, dando luz para encontrar la verdad y la esperanza de vivir graciosamente a través de pruebas y tiempos difíciles...

Hoy te doy gracias, Señor, por el don de tu Iglesia: esa compañía herida, rag-tag, alegre de santos y pecadores cuya fe es mi fuerza, Uniéndonos a todos juntos, hermanos y hermanas en ti y en tu amor...

Hoy te doy gracias, Señor, por toda la gente que me rodea y por los que están detrás de mí y delante de mí: Los que me han ayudado a convertirme en la persona en la que me he convertido; Aquellos que me han amado de muchas maneras para saber o imaginar;

Aquellos que me han amado cuando no los he amado a cambio; Aquellos que me han perdonado y perdonado con misericordia y con gracia; Aquellos que han compartido su alegría conmigo, que llenan mi corazón de paz y que me ayudan a confiar y saber con esperanza que ustedes están siempre a mi lado… Y hoy les agradezco, Señor, por todas las personas que aún no he conocido pero lo hará…

Hoy te doy gracias, Señor, por el misterio de tu presencia: en todos los que conozco y conozco; En los momentos más simples y corrientes de cada día; Y en la quietud, en la quietud del tiempo que paso con vosotros en la oración… Hoy te alabo y te agradezco, Señor, porque tú eres mi Dios de quien fluyen todas las bendiciones…

Amén.

Black Catholic History Month: Those Amazing Healy Kids

There were 10 Healy children born to the union of Michael and Mary Eliza Healy. Michael Morris Healy immigrated to America from Ireland in 1818. He purchased 1,500 acres of land in Jones County Georgia near the city of Macon, Georgia. Michael became a successful and prominent planter of cotton, and he owned 49 slaves. Among his slaves was a young woman named Mary Eliza Smith, whom Healy took to be his common law wife. He could not actually marry Mary because inter-racial marriages were against the law.

Healy understood some of the hardships his children would endure because of their mixed race heritage. Because of his wealth, he was able to give his children the advantage of education. When they came of age, Healy sent his eldest sons to Quaker schools in Flushing, New York. Brothers James, Hugh and Patrick later attended the newly opened Holy Cross College in Worcester, Massachusetts. Younger brothers Sherwood began at Holy Cross in 1844 and Michael in 1849 in its grammar school.

Most of the Healy children pursued a religious life of service, and were successful in doing so. Hugh Healy decided on a career in business after graduation, but tragically died as the result of a boating accident. He was 21. Eugene Healy, the youngest son, struggled throughout his life and did not achieve to the level of his siblings. The rest of the Healy kids however, did very well.

The Healy daughters became nuns, although Martha, the eldest girl, soon left the order. After moving to Boston where her brothers were, Martha married and had one son. Josephine Healy joined the Religious Hospitallers of Saint Joseph in Canada. Eliza Healy joined the Congregation of Notre Dame in Montreal. After teaching for years at Catholic schools in Quebec and Ontario Eliza was appointed the first African American Mother Superior at a Catholic convent and school in St. Albans, Vermont (1903).

James Augustus Healy had a most distinguished life of service to the church. In 1849 James was the Valedictorian of Holy Cross's first graduating class. Following graduation, James wished to enter the priesthood. His goal was frustrated because he could not study at the Jesuit novitiate in Maryland, as he was black living in a slave state. But with the help of influential friends, James entered a Sulpician seminary in Montreal. In 1852 he transferred to study at Saint Sulpice Seminary in Paris, working towards a doctorate and a career as a seminary professor. God changed his mind, and James decided to become a pastor instead. On June 10, 1854 he was ordained at the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris as a priest to serve in Boston. He was the first African American to be ordained a Roman Catholic priest. In 1866 Healy became pastor of St. James Church, the largest Catholic congregation in Boston. Pope Pius IX appointed Father James Healy the Second Bishop of Portland, Maine. He was consecrated as Bishop of Portland, Maine on June 2, 1875 becoming the first African American consecrated a Catholic Bishop. During his years of service in Maine (over 25 years), Healy oversaw the establishment of 60 new churches, 68 missions, 18 convents and 18 schools. James represents a truly remarkable record of service.

Patrick Francis Healy became a Jesuit, earned a PhD in Paris and is considered the first African American to earn that degree. Patrick was named a dean at Georgetown University in 1866. At the age of 36 in 1874 he assumed the presidency of what was then the largest Catholic college in the United States.

Alexander Sherwood Healy was also ordained as a priest and earned his doctorate degree at the Sulpician academy in Paris, where he became an expert in canon law and Gregorian chant. He was appointed director of the Catholic seminary in Troy, New York and rector of the Cathedral in Boston. His career was cut short by his death at age 39.
There will not be Adoration on November 24th, 25th, and 26th due to the Thanksgiving Holiday.

From the Director of Administration...
The role of the parish staff is to serve the parish through our many ministries and through our parishioners. We strive to be the best possible servant leaders to enhance ministries and the practice of our faith. Ideally our work is in the background to support the real work of the parish. We strive to communicate and assist in the functioning of our many ministries.

We also need and rely on the support of every ministry and each parishioner to communicate to us what is happening in the parish from your perspectives. We recently had an RV parked in our parking lot after being given permission to do so by one of our ministries which in itself would not have been an issue if we had been informed but we were not so there was confusion and concern.

We’ll continually work to serve better with improved communication and ask the same in return.

God Bless
